

Microscopic models for thermal conductivity.

STEFANO OLLA
(Université de Paris- Dauphine.)

ABSTRACT: I will review the classical problem of the microscopic origin of the Fourier law for heat conduction, and various conjectures about its validity. I will expose some new mathematical results concerning system of oscillators stochastically perturbed by energy or energy+momentum conserving noise. This is a work in collaboration with Cedric Bernardin and Giada Basile.